WHEN DO YOU NEED WOMEN'S SWITCHBOARD?

431-1414

S.F. Women's Switchboard

 San Francisco, CA 94110

San Francisco Women's Switchboard was founded in 1972 to create a communication network for women. Since then we have been providing women of the Bay Area with information and referrals about the services they want and need.

As the Bay Area women's community has grown, the Switchboard's files have been expanding and changing to keep pace. We need your input to keep our files current. Contact us if you can contribute to this task in any of these ways:

- if you have skills to offer, or know of women who do, tell us about them. We are always in need of up-to-date, quality referrals, especially in fields non-traditional to women.
- if you have information about events and classes for women, let us know. Help us spread the news throughout the community.
- call us with your feedback when we have given you referrals. It will be incorporated into our files.

- volunteer two or more hours a week. By working with us, you get to know the city better—especially the women's community. You join a group of women committed to women's needs, who provide challenge, support, and warmth for each other. And you can get tremendous satisfaction from providing a caller with just what she needs. We especially welcome volunteers who are bilingual, who enrich what we do through ethnic and cultural diversity.

Women's Switchboard is a feminist collective operating on feminist energy. We depend on individual donations and special events for our funding. Your financial contributions are needed and can be justified by the following facts:

- our service is free to all women who need us
- our service frequently saves you money
- our service may help you earn money
- our service is a major link in communication among women.
